

Department of Psychiatry Best Presentation by a Resident Award

This is awarded on an annual basis to a resident in the psychiatry program at Queen's University whose Grand Round presentation is deemed to be of the highest quality. All of the residents in the program are expected to prepare and deliver two grand round presentations during their tenure as a resident. Therefore all residents will be eligible to be considered for this award at least twice during their residency. Resident presentations considered will be those of the preceding calendar year, not the academic year.

The audience evaluates each grand round presentation. The evaluation sheets enable a numerical value to be assigned to each presentation. The items are totaled and averaged to reach an overall assessment score for each presentation (eg. 5 = Excellent; 4 = Very good etc.) The award is presented to the resident who receives the highest score.

In the event of the situation whereby a number of residents receive the same averaged score, the evaluations will be brought to the Residency Program Committee who will review the numerical scores and the audience comments, to determine the award recipient.

The award consists of a $500 cheque and an inscription on the Best Presentation by a Resident Plaque.

The award will be presented at the Annual department of Psychiatry Research Day. The decision will be made by March 15, 2017 in any given year.
