LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Dr. Marcelo Crespin: “The Mental Health of Sexual Minorities: Minority Stress Theory & Research Implications”

Objectives:

1. Understand Meyer’s Minority Stress Model and how it helps explain the higher prevalence of mental illness among the Lesbian, Gay & Bisexual (LGB) population.
2. Have an appreciation of the research literature documenting how Meyer’s Minority Stress Model has been tested in both urban & non-urban LGB populations.
3. Appreciate the mental health implications suggested by the literature for non-urban/smaller LGB populations such as Kingston, ON.
4. Understand how the Minority Stress Model is being tested with current research about the mental health of LGB individuals in Kingston, ON.
5. Have an appreciation for how LGB mental health research findings might help shape the future of LGB mental health resources in Kingston and beyond.
